12-PAGE EDITION.

TUESDAY, : : SEPT. 23, 1890.

MR. F. A. HOSMER,

Of Great Barrington, Mass.—The New President for Oahu College.

When Mr. Bingham withdrew his acceptance of the Presidency of Oahu College, Dr. Hyde had only four weeks left of his allotted time in the States, to secure a president and bring him on. One week of most diligent search most happily resulted in finding a teacher of the requisite qualifications, who was willing and ready to come to Honolulu. Mr. Hosmer has shown his business and executive ability in closing up his business, selling his house and furniture, saying good bye to his friends, and leaving San Francisco for Honolulu, all in three weeks' time.

Mr. Hosmer is a native of Woburn, a graduate of Amherst College, of the class of 1875. The first year after graduation he taught in the High School at Brinfield, Mass., where Dr. Hyde was once pastor.
He taught two years in Palmer, Mass. But for ten years he has been the successful and popular principal of the High School in Great Barrington, Mass., the native town of Rev.
Dr. Beckwith. Maurice Beckwith has been for several years one of his pupils. Mr. Hosmer has been particularly favored in securing the good will and awakening the enthusiasm of his pupils. De Boies, the young negro who graduated this year at Harvard University with its highest honors, began his student career under Mr. Hosmer. Many of his pupils have entered Williams, Cornell, and other colleges of high grade. He was strongly recommended by Prof. Hitchcock for the High School in Portland, but declined the invitation. More recently also he was invited to the Lynn High School, to which he declined to go.
But he found special attractions in the Presidency of Oahu College, and a successful future is prophesied for him by his many personal admirers.

The people of Great Barrington tendered him a farewell reception at the beautiful stone church built by Mrs. Hopkins of San Francisco.
There were strong testimonies given of his helpful influence over more than 500 pupils. A most fitting memento was presented, a portfolio of water color sketches in and around Great Barrington. The Berkshire
"Courier," with which Mr. Hosmer had been connected on its editorial staff, has given its testimony to his worth as a citizen and a man in an editorial article from which we quote: "The High School has had a steady career of growth and usefulness up to the time of Mr.
Hosmer's resignation. It has been attended by a good many young men and women from other towns, who had the intelligence to appreciate its advantages. Mr. Hosmer gave his whole time and strength to the welfare of his pupils. No one of them ever sought his counsel and assistance to be met with indifference. Any pupil, who for any reason, needed extra aid and instruction, received it without stint. After their graduation, Mr. Hosmer took an active concern in helping them to obtain employment as teachers and otherwise. The relations between himself and his scholars were always admirable on both sides, dignified, courteous, yet familiar; and he received from all who have been under his instruction that intelligent and abiding esteem which is the good teacher's best reward. Mr. Hosmer has always been a good citizen, interested in whatever would contribute to the public improvement. He was one of the original organizers of our Free Public Library, and has always given to it a great deal of care and labor. He has done good service as a member of the town's School Committee. As a teacher in the Sunday School of the Congregational Church, and in all ways open to him, he has tried to do his part towards the advancement of society.
It would be the general wish that Mr. and Mrs. Hosmer should remain here, but he has been called to a far-distant position of honor and responsibility, and as he and his wife journey to their island home, they will be followed by the good wishes of everybody in this town."

The breaking out of the influenza in Iceland has caused a considerable panic, as the consequences there have been serious. Of the 57,000 inhabitants in 1843, 2,000 died of the influenza, and in 1876, 1,500 persons were carried off by the same disease.

THE ADVERTISER IS THE leading daily paper of the Kingdom

THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Seventy-eighth Day.
MONDAY, Sept. 15.

The House met at 10 A. M. Prayer by Chaplain. Minutes of the preceding day read and approved.

Rep. Brown presented two petitions with over 300 names, one praying that section 2 of the proposed Sunday law do not pass, and the other that the whole bill be rejected. Referred to committee on the bill.

Noble Baldwin presented a petition with seventy-four names from Wailuku that the Sunday law remain as it is. Referred to committee on the bill.

Rep. Kahookano presented a petition eighteen feet long from the Leper Settlement praying that Mr. Evans be retained in his place. Referred to Leper Committee.

Rep. Kapapahele presented a petition praying that the Board of Health induce Sister Rose Gertrude to remain as nurse at the Kalih Hospital. Referred to Sanitary Committee.

Rep. Cummings reported several bills printed.

Rep. Kapapahele resolved that the minority report of the Committee on Education referring to the establishment of certain English schools be placed on the order of the day for September 16.
The object was to bring the matter before the House in order to settle the question.

The resolution was adopted. The President appointed Select Committee on Governors Bill; Waipulani, Wide-mann, Rickard, A. S. Wilcox and Halstead.

Noble Pua asked Minister Spencer to ask the following question of the Board of Health: What were the reasons which led Sister Rose Gertrude to resign her position as nurse at the Kalih Receiving Hospital?

Rep. Brown moved the resolution be laid on the table. Carried.

The House proceeded to the Order of the Day.

Rep. Brown moved sections 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10 of the appropriation bill be considered.

Noble Muller moved the Finance Committee's report be considered.

The President stated that was the Order of the Day.

Rep. Nawahi moved the report be adopted.

Rep. Brown said when he voted he liked to know what he voted on. There was no statement as to the late minority report of the Finance Committee, which contains conclusions of law. If the late Ministry are in fault I am ready to vote for the adoption of the report. But the present situation is unprecedented. There ought to be two sides represented, and here there are not. I make no motion, but I shall ask to be excused from voting.

Noble Widemann said the argument was very extraordinary. If he believed the Ministry not properly dealt with in that report, he ought to have made one himself. There was a report in 1884 with which the hon. gentleman was intimately connected. There was only one side to that, but we couldn't carry it.

Noble J. M. Horner said if we adopted the report it would amount to adopting all the recommendations of the committee. Some of these I can adopt, but some I cannot. I move it be laid on the table for the perusal of the members. In many cases the report seems to be the work of theorists, and not of genuinely practical men, and they are thorough accountants, skillful in handling figures.
But when they get to commenting on expenditures for labor, etc., in the country, a thing in which they have no experience, they get very theoretical. (The speaker read an extract from the report, in which the committee recommend the adoption of an audit act similar to that of New York state.) The committee forget that in New York they have besides a state government, county township and municipal governments, which run their own affairs, collect and disburse their own taxes, etc. The natives in the employ of our road boards expect to get their pay every Saturday night, and they get it, signing a voucher. After a month, say, the road board has a meeting, and examines the vouchers. At the end of three months, say, a report is made to the Minister of the Interior. Now where would this Saturday night's pay come from if the committee's suggestion were adopted, and all the vouchers sent to Honolulu before anything could be paid.
The thing is plainly utterly impractical.
There are scores of other suggestions just as impractical. While there are other suggestions I approve of, and some things I would like to see straightened out, I cannot vote for the adoption of the report.

Noble Macfarlane said that it was pretty well understood that the late Minister should have all the opportunity to answer this report. He was out boat sailing all day Saturday and Sunday, and might have had that time to prepare his answer. I do not think this House ought to be at his beck and call. He has not sent in any answer or expressed any desire to meet any of the committee. The ex-minister, I am told, scouts the legal view which the committee take of the fire lot. The speaker stated the facts in that case, contending that the Minister had abused his power, and taken a course leading to collusion and fraud, a course which none except the late Minister would have ever attempted, not even Mr. Gibson. The Minister claims that he merely used his power to exchange lands. The result was, however, that he spent a great deal more than the appropriation, and that was a violation of law. The speaker proceeded to comment on a certain harbor dredging transaction and also on the Honolulu market. Also on the Labaina jail, charging that the Superintendent of Public Works made a deliberate misstatement, not because he meant to, but because he did not know any better, his accounts being so confused. He relied on his memory or on his books, which were no more reliable than his memory. He claims that they ought to have examined his books, but we are informed that he used to make up his books from those of the Interior Department. The next item referred to was the Volcano road. The person who offered to build it for $30,000 was Peter

Lee. Mr. Thurston and Mr. Rowell saw Mr. Lee in Kau, complimented him on the excellence of his road, and could not believe it only cost him $10,000. He offered to build the whole road for $30,- 000, a road which will cost the Government $125,000 or $130,000. I do not state that Mr. Lee would have built as good a road, but it would have been good enough, as good as Mr. Lee's road in Kau, and as good as the country could afford. The Minister went, however, outside of all his authority, and borrowed money around town to go on with the road. The grossest kind of mismanage-
